Senior Software Engineer
UBER Seattle

Gayatri was born in Dubai and lived most of her childhood in the United Arab Emirates. When she came to The United States to study computer science, she really found her niche. A love of staying up late to solve complex problems coupled with a need to be in a fast-paced environment has made her the manager of her own team at Uber.

FUN FACT: Gayatri is a trained vocalist and has competed in numerous international singing competitions. She attributes her professional confidence to her experience singing in front of thousands of people.

“Don’t doubt yourself too much. Have more confidence.”
